

Vector LiveSafe

Mobile Risk Intelligence Communication Platform

Empower and protect your organization with the emergency alert and safety communications platform. Vector LiveSafe supports risk-aware organizations to mitigate operational risks, reduce financial loss, and create a safe and informed workplace.

Respond in real-time to safety, weather, and security events

Receive tips, information, and notifications from the people who know your organization best - your employees. Using this timely information, security personnel can rapidly respond to incidents and threats in real time.

Improve communications with your employees

Send emergency notifications and other mass communications across multiple channels (SMS, phone call, email and push notification) to keep employees safe and informed wherever they are. The ability for two-way chat with security personnel provides an additional level of safety and trust.

Identify emerging threats in your organization

Using analytics, dashboards, and crowd-sourced information from employees, security personnel and risk managers can identify potential threats and risks.

Mitigate health and safety risks

Identify and mitigate health and safety risks proactively to safeguard your workforce against illnesses and productivity disruptions. Our solution provides valuable insights to help you implement targeted interventions and employee health, safety, and wellness initiatives.

We make you safer, smarter, better

At Vector Solutions, we aim to provide technology that helps you to achieve better outcomes and safeguard lives. Whether it's physical safety and security threats, lone worker risks, sexual harassment and assault incidents, or weather-related events, the Vector LiveSafe Platform provides all of the necessary tools to keep your organization healthy, safe, and informed.
