

Why Acadis?

When you need to schedule, house, educate, and evaluate recruits and personnel for basic, advanced, and in-service training, you need a unified system that centralizes your information, reduces administrative workload, and ensures students are trained efficiently.

The Acadis Difference

Designed for Public Safety

The Acadis® Readiness Suite was purpose-built for the training and compliance needs of public safety professionals. From high security and legally defensible training records to offline access when training occurs outside of data connectivity, we understand your organization's unique needs.

Plus, with many former public safety professionals on our team, you'll be supported by experts who understand your needs in preparing your personnel.

Proven Security

The Acadis Readiness Suite was built secure from the ground up. Designed to meet the high-security needs of the federal government, Acadis has ongoing Authority to Operate within the DHS, DOJ, and DOS. Acadis is hosted on Amazon Web Services (AWS) GovCloud and meets the rigorous FedRAMP authorization and CJIS compliance standards.

Internally, robust role permissions and data partitioning mean your staff only has access to the data you authorize. Our approach means your system administrators have the flexibility to work efficiently yet never risk compromising secure data and systems.

Trainee Skills Tracking

When it comes to public safety, what your students know is only a part of their training competencies. An LMS helps personnel understand a topic or policy conceptually, but complete proficiency requires the ability to put what they know into practice. Acadis is designed to track the whole person and their practical skills—and provide dependable documentation to validate competency and stand up in a court of law if needed.

A Comprehensive Solution

From scheduling training facilities to tracking internal affairs cases, the Acadis Readiness System connects all aspects of your training, compliance, and personnel management. This allows greater information sharing than ever before, reduces redundant data entry, and allows leaders to have a big-picture understanding of your operations. Best of all, when your organization needs to pivot or expand, the modular nature of Acadis allows you to do so with greater ease. There is no need for a new search, new implementation, or new proposal to gain new capabilities.
